A Happy Mother

Frolicking with her baby makes one of the prettiest spectacles ever seen in the home. But nothing is sadder to see than the unhappy mother, weak and nervous, striving in vain to hush the cries of her weak and nervous babe. There can be no happiness for either mother or child without health. Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription "has done wonders" for many a woman, by restoring her health and opening for her the way to happy motherhood. This really wonderful medicine is not a cure-all. It is a preparation specially designed to cure diseases peculiar to women. It dries debilitating drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, cures female weakness, and removes the causes which generally make women nervous and sleepless. There is no alcohol in "Favorite Prescription" or other narcotic.

Mrs. James W. Blacker, of 69 Catherine Street, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "Your medicine has done wonders for me. For years my health was very poor; I had no energy, but since taking Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' I have much better health, and now I have a fine healthy baby."

Use Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets with "Favorite Prescription" if the bowels are inactive or irregular.

DR. MOTT'S NERVE PILLS
Do not suffer from Nerve Pain, Headache, Dizziness, or any of the many ailments which result from a weak nervous system. Dr. Mott's Nerve Pills are the only medicine that will cure these ailments. They are sold by all druggists.

CATARRH
Nothing but a local remedy will cure Catarrh. The specific is Ely's Cream Balm. It is quickly absorbed, gives relief at once, opens and soothes the inflamed membrane, heals and protects the membrane from the action of the cold. No mercury, no injurious drugs. Regular size, 50 cents; Family Size, $1.00, at Druggists, or by mail. ELY BROTHERS, 56 Warren Street, New York.

FOR OVER FIFTY YEARS.
AN OLD AND WELL-TRIED REMEDY.—Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup has been used for over fifty years by millions of mothers for their children while teething, with perfect success. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures colic and is the best remedy for Diarrhea. It is pleasant to the taste. Sold by druggists in every part of the world. Twenty-five cents a bottle. Its value is incalculable. Be sure and ask for Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup and take no other kind.

CONFEDERACY IS DEAD—LONG LIVE THE SOUTH!

Mr. John Gibson is the editor of "The Randolphian," the exponent of opinion of the Randolph Literary Society. One of the leading articles in the last issue of the magazine appears under the caption and over the signature above indicated, and is supposed to emphasize the vigorous protest of today against yesterday, in expression of thought and in course of action.
The first paragraph of the protest contains a reference to General Lee's Appomattox and the surrender. The reference does not say that General Lee's Farewell Address, the simplest, manliest and sincerest ever penned, bears upon its page an dying tribute to the remnant of the army of Northern Virginia which on April 9, 1865, laid down their arms at his bidding, and portrays their character in words which will ever be remembered.
The remnant left him to go back to their homes and begin the struggle of life over again. How strenuous and how difficult that struggle was, how nobly met and how uncomplainingly, by both southern men and women, only those who lived through it can rightly testify, for the horrors of war were not greater than the horrors of reconstruction.
Now, the large majority of those who made up "the thin gray line" between 1861 and 1865, have joined their great Captain in "the world that rests this right." The veterans that remain, occasionally enjoy with each other, when they meet, reminiscences of battle in which they fought and dangers and privations shared together. Their annual reunions are events in lives which have had few enough pleasures to offset the hardships with which they have been filled.
The twentieth century takes no note of memory or of sentiment. It is upon us with a rush, and its denizens are far too busy fashioning a golden calf, setting it up on high, and prostrating themselves before it, to find room for anything in their world which impinges upon their self-centered preoccupation and absorption. Old Confederates are classified as "held-over warriors." Confederate women who, in the midst of many cares and trials, have found time and means to establish Confederate homes for the needy and schools at which the daughters of ex-soldiers may be fitted for the battle of life, are supposed "to be sitting up for the corpse" of the past, and by example and precept to be clogging the wheels of progress.
All this is a mere matter of opinion and moonshine which is so palpably contradicted by results as to render comment unnecessary. But the whole tone of Mr. Gibson's composition recalls to mind a publication in the "Fortnightly Review" of a few months since from an eminent pen on the prevalent and predominant trait of cruelty, as shown in modern life. In the opinion of this writer, only a few more decades will pass before humanity will have done with whatever is weak, helpless, maimed or aged in its kind. For such there will be a common and an appropriate end—quick consignment to a lethal chamber. Then the cry of the hour will be: "The old is dead! long live the young!" The tender graces of patience and courtesy, the salutary quality of reverence—none flourish in the arid soil of the present.
The time has indeed come when, to the observer of men and the reader of signs, the South must acknowledge herself a conquered nation. Not conquered at Gettysburg, nor at Appomattox; unconquered and unconquerable until a people seem to have taken on the habits of a conquered people.
The small remnant left who have not bent the knee to Babel—and there is a remnant—can only in view of notions of the past, but of the present which oppresses, and the future which holds an unknown dead—this remnant can only lift its heart all the more fervently in prayer and breathe more earnestly the petition:
"Oh Lord of Hosts be with us yet
Lest we forget! Lest we forget!"

THE MOTHER'S FAVORITE
Chambers' Cough Remedy is the mother's favorite. It is pleasant and safe for children to take and always cures. It is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup and whooping cough, and is the best medicine made for these diseases. There is not the least danger in giving it to children for it contains no opium or other injurious drug and may be given as confidently to a baby as to an adult. For sale by Richard Gibson, druggist.

To accommodate those who are partial to the use of atomizers in spraying liquids into the nasal passages for catarrhal troubles, the proprietors prepare Cream Palm in liquid form, which will be known as Ely's Liquid Cream Palm. Price, including the spraying tube, is 75 cents. Druggists or by mail. The liquid form embodies the medicinal properties of the solid preparation. Cream Palm is quickly absorbed by the membrane and does not dry up the secretions, but changes them to a natural and healthy character. Ely Brothers, 56 Warren Street, New York.

Recent experiments show that all classes of foods may be completely digested by a preparation called Koko Dyspepsia Cure, which absolutely does what you eat. As it is the only combination of all the natural digestants ever devised the demand for it has become enormous. It has never failed to cure the very worst cases of indigestion and is always given instant relief.

1837 The Sun.

BAITIMORE, MD.
The paper of the people, for the people and with the people. Honest in motive, leader in expression and second in principle. The Sun is the highest type of newspaper. The Sun's special correspondents throughout the United States, as well as in Europe, South Africa, China and, in fact, all over the world, make it an up-to-date newspaper. The market reports and commercial features put the farmer, the merchant and the broker in close touch with the markets at Baltimore, Norfolk, Charleston, New York, Chicago, Philadelphia and other places which are prominent centers.
From now on the news of the world promises to be more interesting than ever before, and national and political questions will arise, making probably the most eventful period in the country's history.
This, together with the corps of editors and reporters at Baltimore, Washington and New York, make the Sun invaluable to its readers.
